REVOLT CHECKED IN RUMANIAN CAPITAL, CASUALTIES HEAVY

Reports Conflicting, But Fighting Between Government and Dissident Iron Guardists Continues Outside Bucharest—Germans Expected to Take Hand If Order Is Not Restored

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 24 (Friday) (AP)—The Bucharest radio said in a broadcast early today that the last of the rebels holding the police barracks and City Hall in the Rumanian capital had agreed to end hostilities in which some border reports estimated the dead at 2,000 throughout the country. Total casualties were estimated at 6,000.

It was not clear whether all fighting had ceased in Bucharest itself between the dissident Iron Guardists and the Government backed by the Rumanian army, but border dispatches said the revolt still was proceeding outside the capital—especially in Transylvania Province.

An air traveler reaching here said Rumanian troops turned their artillery on rebels holding the Bucharest police barracks, firing at a distance of 300 yards.

SAYS HUNDREDS DEAD

He put the minimum dead in the capital in the hundreds. Other reports said there were more than 2,000 dead in Bucharest morgues, including many Jews taken from their homes and killed along with Iron Guards.

It was reported the oily hall and police barracks were being vacated. Between 700 and 800 rebels were said to have barricaded themselves in the barracks during the disturbances.

The air traveler said Bucharest was "like a military camp with fighting in the streets, following all rules of modern warfare with tanks, machine guns and artillery.

"What the Legionaries want is in full power, with the Government led by Horia Sima (Iron Guard leader), he said.

The Legionaries charged Antonescu

BOMBS RAINED ON RUHR CITY

Military Targets Attacked For Over Two Hours in R.A.F. Assault

LONDON, Jan. 23 (CP) — The Royal Air Force has resumed the Winter attack on German industrial centres, the Air Ministry disclosed today, bombing steel, oil and munitions targets at Duesseldorf through cloud gap for two and one-half hours overnight.

This concentrated though medium" raid made in bad weather, was the twenty-first on the Duesseldorf area.

Despite the clouds, officials said the pilots could see the spread of fires set by their incendiary and high explosive bombs, and "the sky glowed with suffused and reflected light."

Other sortiess of the Ruhr and two airdromes in German-occupied territory also were attacked, the Air Ministry said.

DAYLIGHT ATTACKS

During the daylight hours of Wednesday, British anti-aircraft and fighter planes "in two small sweeps" machine-gunned the German ground defenses, convoys, motorboats and airdromes along the Channel coast from the Dover Strait to the mouth of the Somme, a communique said.

On the first of these raids, the Air Ministry's News Service said, "one of the pilots began the offensive by diving and firing at a number of small motorboats met off the French coast."

The same pilot subsequently machine-gunned five Messerschmitt planes grounded at Le Touquet and then, on his way home, "met anti-aircraft fire and stopped long enough to send all his remaining ammunition splattering among the guns' crews."

Prisoners Escape But Caught Again

MONCTON, N.B., Jan. 23 (CP)—Two German prisoners of war were reported tonight to have been recaptured at nearby Berry's Mills after escaping from a prison train that was taking them to Central Canada from an East Coast Canadian port, where they were landed from Great Britain yesterday.

GREEKS HALT ENEMY DRIVE

Offensive Against Valona Renewed as Weather Conditions Improve

ATHENS, Jan. 23 (AP) — Some of the most intensive fighting of the Greek-Italian war was reported tonight north and north of Klisura, in the central Albanian sector, where improved weather conditions permitted the Greeks to resume their offensive against Valona, last big southern Albanian port left to the Fascists.

The Greeks said they repulsed heavy Italian counter - attacks launched in the Klisura area and started to push ahead, taking new positions by heavy fighting.

The official Greek spokesman said the Greeks had occupied a series of positions, seized a number of villages and captured 250 prisoners, including officers. He added that the Greeks also took large quantities of mortars, machine guns, rifles and other war materiel.

ENEMY SUFFER LOSSES

Of the fighting in one sector, the spokesman said: "The enemy attempted to check the Greek offensive action but eventually retreated in a hurry after suffering heavy losses."

A two-way attack on military buildings and transport concentrations in Albania and the airdrome of Martina on the Dodecanese Island of Rhodes was reported today by the Royal Air Force.

The assault on Maritza, one of the few actions thus far against Italians in the Dodecanese Islands, caused fires among military buildings and set the airport last night, the communique said.

Military buildings at Berati, Albania, also were damaged, while transport on the Klisura-Berati road was raked ahead of the Greek counter-invasion front.

Despite the clouds, officials said the pilots could see the spread of fires set by their incendiary and high explosive bombs, and "the sky glowed with suffused and reflected light."

Other sortiess of the Ruhr and two airdromes in German-occupied territory also were attacked, the Air Ministry said.

TWO KILLED IN TRAINING PLANE

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Jan. 23 (CP)—An instructor and a pupil from No. 32 Service Flying Training School here died today when a Harvard airplane plunged to earth four miles south of the city.

The instructor was P.O. C. R. S. Rich, while his pupil was L.A.C. J. H. Bell, both members of the R.C.A.F. stationed here.

P.O. Rich, twenty-nine, has lived in Moose Jaw since November 12, 1939. His home was at Winchmore Hill, near London, England.

L.A.C. Morgan, twenty, arrived at the training school here January 1, 1941, coming from Penarth, Glamorgan, Wales.

At the time of the crash a heavy snow was falling and flying visibility was poor.

From Europe Day by Day

LONDON, Jan. 23. (By Cable)—Capture of Tobruk shows up the astonishing inefficiency of the Italians, says The Times military correspondent.

If the sacrifice of Bardia and loss of its garrison had contributed in any way to the safety of Tobruk, or if the sacrifice of Tobruk had prevented British forces from overrunning Eastern Libya, there might have been something to say for Italian military leadership here. But it would have appeared to be grossly extravagant.

But the great losses of men and material, amounting to nearly two-thirds of the Italian armies, in surrendering the territories sufficient to ensure, by British bombardment, have in no way served the Italian cause.

Benghazi may now be taken if it is thought desirable. But this is a question entirely to be settled by the khourridge of how far it would fit in local military plans and air plans to counter Germany's intervention in the Mediterranean. The German air force is now in Sicily and probably 240 guns

The Italians are preparing new defensive lines in Albania, before Valona and Berati, Musolini has reduced in rank two generals, seven colonels and many other officers for failure in the Greek campaign.

The Italians have resumed air attacks on Greek ports like Salonika, Volos and Preveza, but without success. Only military planes and airmen have twice bombed Valona in thirty-six hours.

More evidence of German plans in the Balkans comes from Times diplomatic correspondent, has reported Hitler is also doubtedly reinforcing his troops in Rumania, where there is a state of alert and due to fights between rival sections of the Iron Guard.

The Times says German movements have also begun, and the Hungarian war survey is now in Berlin, presumably for discussing further transport facilities.

Meanwhile, the Nazis keep up pressure on Rumania by sending troops on the frontier and sending technical experts into Bulgarian territory on various pretexts.

London observers think Hitler realizes he is now too late to help Italy in North Africa, and he may, therefore, send troops into Albania to assist the defeated ally there.

The fall of the important post of Kassala, on the Sudan "frontier," happened in dramatic fashion. An Arab riding a white ass approached the British lines, dismounted under the menace of Bren guns and rifles, and demanded to be taken immediately to the British commander.

"To him he handed a sealed paper with a few words in it written in Arabic it was from the Mayor of Kassala, a good friend of the British, and it read: "Please enter Kassala with your forces immediately. The Italians are retreating."

The Italians are still retreating for into Eritrea, pursued by British troops.

British Chairman of Shanghai Municipal Board And Two Japanese Members Wounded—Disorder Develops When Disapproval Expressed to Vote Increasing Taxation

SHANGHAI, Jan. 23 (AP)—W. J. Keswick, British chairman of the Shanghai Municipal Council, and two Japanese Council officials were slightly wounded today in full view of a meeting of 3,000 persons in a shooting precipitated by Japanese disapproval of a council vote.

Y. Hayashi, sixty-year-old chairman of the Association of Japanese Street Unions, was taken into custody by Japanese consular police. Spectators claimed he was seen to jump to the platform with a pistol in his hand. Japanese Consular officials said they were not prepared to admit Hayashi was the man who wounded the three, but said he is "detained as a suspect."

The meeting, an emergency session on taxation, was held at the

WRITES LETTER AND LOSES JOB

Commanding Officer of Cadet Unit Disciplined by War Secretary

LONDON, Jan. 23 (CP)—War Secretary David Margesson told the House of Commons today that Lieut.-Col. R. C. Bingham, who charged in a letter in The Times that the working-class men now serving as army officers had "largely fallen down" on the job, has been relieved of his command of an officer's cadet training unit.

He was criticized in the House of Commons, Tuesday, by Malcolm MacMillan (Labor), who asserted regulations forbid officers and soldiers to write to the press, and called "drastic" disciplinary action.

In the House today, Captain Margesson concurred that there had been a breach of the King's Regulations forbidding officers and men to communicate to the press their views on military subjects.

Captain Margesson added that the Army Council's "severe displeasure" had been conveyed to Colonel Bingham.

"In addition," the War Secretary said, "I have decided that this officer no longer is suitable for command of an officers' cadet training unit."

ADMITS IDENTITY

Police told reporters the second man, 38, Scott-Lindstedt, escaped and admitted "You got me," when they jumped from a second car and arrested him in an open section of the northern outskirts of the city. Their information came from a woman who phoned headquarters after her six-year-old daughter spoke of seeing a man changing his clothes behind a nearby service.

The dentman who ordered the police in the arrest said he had no idea the woman's "mysterious character" was the man who had been the object of an extensive hunt for hours. The car which made the capture was on another allotment at the time, but was driven to the scene when the radio intercepted the new call.

SAFE IN ENGLAND AFTER ROUGH TIME

LONDON, Jan. 24 (Friday) (AP)—E. Phillips Oppenheim, author of many thrillers, arrived in England yesterday, after an adventurous journey from South France, with his wife and maid.

The seventy-four-year-old author said he had a "rough time," and added the French were showing a definite change of feeling "against the Germans.

NAZI PRISONER IS RECAPTURED

Woman Telephones Police After Seeing Man Changing Clothes

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Jan. 23 (CP)—A woman's tip resulted in the capture by city police of Peter Schuerring, a thirty-four-old German, here today.

The arrest closed the case of two German prisoners who escaped yesterday as they were being removed to a train from the ship which brought them to Canada from Britain.

His companion, Helmuth Brueckmann, was taken early this morning when unofficial reports said he aroused suspicion at a rooming house where he had sought a night's lodging.

Dublin Castle Scene Of Fire Threatening Offices of Censors

Blaze Uncontrolled for Two Hours Destroys Headquarters of Ministry of Commerce—Firemen Have Hard Struggle to Prevent Spread

DUBLIN, Jan. 24 (Friday) (AP)—A fierce fire broke out early today in Dublin Castle, where the censorship offices are located. A Dublin newspaper messenger gave the alarm upon discovering the blaze while taking copy to the censor for approval.

Fire-fighting brigades worked feverishly to prevent the flames from spreading to a connected residential area nearby.

The offices of the Ministry of Commerce in the castle were destroyed before the fire was controlled two hours after it was discovered.

NUCLEUS OF CITY

Dublin Castle is the nucleus from which the City of Dublin is said to have developed. Although part of

The castle was built on the rising ground overlooking the River Liffey which divides Dublin, and the expansion of the two from this point has been of great interest to students of municipal planning.

The castle was the official seat of the Lords Lieutenant until the establishment of the Free State in 1922. Government offices are housed in it now.

Lindbergh and Johnson Appear Before U.S. House Committee On Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON Jan 23 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh said today he did not want Great Britain to win the war, today denounced the British, and declared a "major step" toward involvement in a war which the United States could not hope to win. He claimed that if the United States minds its own business and keeps itself reasonably ill, is not in any danger.

The flyer appeared before the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee, at the request of members of the anti-Lend-Lease bill, urged an immediate negotiated peace.

Hugh S. Johnson, the newspaper columnist followed him to the witness stand, and said the bill amounted to "a defensive and offensive alliance with Great Britain" in which any war aims the United States might have will be entirely to the control of the British Government.

More Money for "China Incident"

TOKIO Jan. 24 (Friday) (AP)—Domei (Japanese news agency) announced today the Cabinet had approved a special supplementary wartime military budget of one billion yen ($234,387,000) for February and March, bringing the actual three-months military budget to approximately 5,900,000,000 yen ($1,379,762,000).

It was understood most of the funds would go to meet expenses of the "China incident."

British Patrols Sweep Far Into Libya After Armies Take Only Good Natural Harbor in Country —Sixteen Italian Generals and More Than 100,000 Soldiers Captive

Derna Heavily Bombed by Royal Air Force Planes

LONDON, Jan. 24 (Friday), (CP).—Percy C. Spender, Australian Army Minister, said he received a cable from Lieut.-Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey saying 25,000 Italian prisoners had been taken at Tobruk, Libya, an Exchange Telegraph Agency dispatch from Sydney said today. It was said Australian casualties "would not exceed 300."

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 23 (AP).—Britain's armies sent patrols far into Libya today, testing prospects for a continuation of the spectacular desert offensive, while more than 16,000 prisoners taken in the capture of the vital Italian base of Tobruk were sorted and counted.

The fall of Tobruk was described as a major Fascist disaster. The town, with the only good natural harbor in Libya, was considered a base to supply advancing British troops. Immense military loads there were put as exceeding those of the British forces by at least thirty-two times.

Aside from the Italian prisoners taken—and in listing these as above 16,000 the British Command limits the qualifying term "so far"—2,000 Italian wounded have been sent evacuated during the day, a general headquarters communique said.

BRITISH CASUALTIES FEW

Against these relatively enormous Italian losses—and this did not include an undetermined number killed in action—the British Command put down as "not many" casualties in "under 500."

Encouraging announcements since the beginning of the offensive, British sources said the aggregate number of Italian generals now in custody is sixteen, that at least 99,000 Italian prisoners have been taken, and that the Italian dead, wounded and missing will run upward of 30,000.

When the British troops got into Tobruk, it was said, they found three ships burning in the harbor, one of them a large liner. Booty seized was so great that it could not be estimated.

British Airmen Blast at Sicilian Bases of Nazi Dive Bombers

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 23 (AP)—Royal Air Force bombers attacked the airdrome at Catania, Sicily, on which German dive bombers are based, last night, and heavy explosions and fires occurred near the runway and hangars, a communique said today. The bulletin follows:

"Airdromes in Sicily were heavily attacked by bombers of the R.A.F. during the night of January 22-23.

SEVERAL FIRES STARTED

"Bombs were also dropped in Augusta airdrome, but the results were not fully observed, owing to low clouds. Several large explosions occurred in Syracuse and fires were started south of the Bay.

"Other aircraft attacked the airdrome at Catania, and several fires and explosions took place near the runway and hangars.

"One stick of bombs landed in the middle of the railway junction north of the airdrome. A particularly heavy explosion occurred, followed by fires, with heavy black smoke.

"All our aircraft returned safely from these operations."

Exiled Emperor of Ethiopia Co-operating With British Military Mission

CAIRO Jan 23 (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie has been inside Ethiopia since January 13, it was officially disclosed tonight.

The Ethiopian Emperor, an exile for five years since the Italians invaded his country, previously was escorted by Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

There at an improvised court he received Ethiopian chieftains who slipped across the border to meet him.

A British mission has been deep in the interior of Ethiopia for months raising a black army and drilling it, despite efforts by the Italians to locate the group.

Wearing the uniform of a field marshal of the Ethiopian army, the Negus drove across the Sudan border into Ethiopia and is somewhere in the field directly conducting the activities of his patriots with the work of the British military mission.

Vichy Government Accedes to German Suggestion Regarding Indo-China Conflict

VICHY, France, Jan. 23 (AP) — Marshall Petain's Government announced tonight it has accepted the offer of Japan to mediate in the four months' Asiatic border conflict which has led to invasion of French Indo-China by Thailand's army.

An authoritative source said that back of Vichy's readiness to accept Japan's good offices was a German "suggestion" which sprang from a desire to refute any possibility of United States intervention.

French colonial leaders were said to have pressed for an invitation to Washington to mediate, the turn Pacific War was described to forestall this.

Torpedoed Flotilla Leader Kelly Again Patrolling Sea Lanes for Great Britain—Story Told Of Heroic Ninety-One-Hour Battle

LONDON, Jan. 23 (CP)—How the crippled British flotilla leader Kelly fought a ninety-one-hour battle against sea and sky foes and against the last bomb could be fired.

Then, like Britain's newest, fastest and most heavily-armed destroyers, was boarded by a German motor torpedo boat in the North Sea. The explosion ripped open a gaping hole in her side. Correspondent Finds Would-Be Prisoners At Tobruk Nuisance

Italians Try to Surrender to American—Claims No Real Resistance Made Before Fall of City—Australians Parade Streets

TOBRUK, Libya, Jan. 22 (Delayed) (AP)—So many Italian prisoners have been taken in the British capture of Tobruk that—as in other battles of the desert campaign—handling them is an annoyance not only to the British Army but to correspondents.

I am the only American covering the campaign, but in a war correspondent's uniform I am mistaken for a British officer. Consequently dozens of Italians have surrendered to me, most of them in the last battle.

This poses a question as to whether, under the laws of belligerency, an American is allowed to capture prisoners.

Usually I have solved this problem by turning them over to a British colleague or directing them to the spot where they may be officially captured.

NO REAL RESISTANCE

Tobruk fell without real resistance. When the attackers approached, prepared for bitter fighting, all they found before them—outside of two rattles of machine-gun fire which died away as though from lack of interest—was a barricaded road.

The British and Australian troops got down from their vehicles, knocked down the barn and entered the strangely quiet city.

Tobruk, a pleasant town sandwiched between the desert and the Mediterranean, was covered by a dense pall of smoke as the Australians entered.

Whether the Italian Command gave the order for surrender or the Italian soldiers did so on their own account, was uncertain.

At any rate the Italians began to prepare for the fall at 3 a.m. Wednesday, by destroying property of military value. This was the chief cause of a great fire, and most of the damage to the city.

The old cruiser San Giorgio, which has been run ashore and used as a harbor fort since it was damaged in a British air raid early in the war, was set afire, its boilers blown up, and tonight it was still blazing.

The big liner Marco Polo, formerly in the Chile service, likewise was blasting in the harbor. A submarine was sunk the victim of British bombs, and a score of smaller ships was in process of demolition.

Oil belching from pipes running down to the San Giorgio from Tobruk's big guns and coals defences.

MOSTLY RESIGNED

Like some other Italians previously captured in this campaign, most of the Tobruk garrison resigned, but the naval men seemed more affected. Some of them wept as they walked away.

Many started off with heavy jaws and others dropped it at the roadside.

There were many Italian wounded on the ground being picked up by the British Medical Corps as quickly as facilities would permit.

This correspondent tried to help one badly-wounded officer. He feebly waved me away, intent on dying in peace. I saw him shortly afterward dead, his fingers clutching a crucifix.

This afternoon the Australians paraded the streets of Tobruk, released after their battle. Some of them were on captured bicycles and scooters.

British tanks rolled through the main streets, flying captured Italian flags. Italian officers, marching in prisoners' lines, saluted the flags.

But there was no flag on the main staff at town. Marching from it, instead, was the brisk-beat of an Australian soldier.

REVOLT CHECKED IN RUMANIAN CAPITAL

EXPECT NO TROUBLE TO ACT

"If Horia Sima asks for peace that means the movement has failed and the Legionaries are beaten. It is generally believed that German troops finally will have to establish order."

There was one report, that Gen. Antonescu already has issued an order to "liquidate" all captured resisters.

The Bucharest radio, again in Government control apparently after revolver shots broke off a rebellion Guardist broadcast last night, sent out at three-minute intervals an appeal by Premier Ion Antonescu for a cessation of hostilities.

The new Rumanian Minister of the Interior, Gen. Dimitru Pecescu, ordered all civilians to yield all weapons to their local authorities within the next twenty-four hours, threatening death to those refusing. This announcement on the radio in Bucharest was heard here.

MUST BE REPLACED

He also announced that the mayors of every town and village must be replaced within thirty-eight hours by men who have not participated in the widespread disorders.

"The mildest elements of the Legionaries (Iron Guards)," he said, "have been defeated. If there are still such elements in some sections they will be arrested and tried by the military."

In another radio appeal to the army, Premier Antonescu declared the Rumanian state was "in a critical condition which threatens its existence."

"People who were misled by Communists have attempted to take over the Government by force," the general declared.

"I appeal to you (the army) for your devotion to the nation."

Although the Rumanian Legation at Berlin issued a statement that Antonescu was "master," the authoritative broadcasts were taken as an indication the revolt was not quelled.

MONTREAL, Jan. 22—S. J. Hungerford, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, today sent the following message to all employees of the National system:

"Our nation needs money to win the war. Every income can provide something for this common cause which is really the cause of all humanity." Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance, has said that the rich, the well-to-do, the financial and other corporations and the middle class bond buyers cannot provide all of the large sum needed in 1941, no matter how hard they try. Wage-earners and salaried men are, therefore, asked to make systematic investments in war savings certificates.

"A special effort will be made during the month of February throughout the Dominion aimed at securing two million pledges for war savings certificates in supply Canada's War Treasury with $100 000 000 a month, or $1200 000 000 per year.

"To many these purchases will entail sacrifice and scarcity, but we may properly reflect on the daily sacrifices being made by the inhabitants of London and those of bombed Coventry, Sheffield, Bristol, Liverpool, Southampton and other communities in England. Think of them threatened by daily danger from the air and subject to continuous rationing which affects every individual. Their battle is ours. Their courage and gallantry is a challenge.

"Purchase war savings certificates as a real contribution to just cause, the cause of those who cherish freedom, justice and a sane mode of life. That is an investment worth-while.

"In this February war savings campaign Canadian National men and women will do their part as they have done in all campaigns throughout the years.

DOGGED COURAGE SAVED WARSHIP

streaking towards the British warship.

Before she could dodge, a tremendous explosion lifted the flotilla destroyer and blew the forward boiler room open 16 the sea. A sheet of flame rose above the bridge. A huge hole in the ships side extended downward to the keel. Every man in the boiler room was killed instantly.

Coming out of the mist, H.M.S. Baldine, one of the accompanying craft, found the Kelly down by the bows and listing heavily. The mist was now thick for

TAKEN IN TOW

The Baldine took the Kelly in tow and started for home. Torpedoes, depth charges and moveable upworks were jettisoned. Wounded men were recovered from the wreckage amidships. The sick bay had been demolished and the ship's surgeon, working by the lights of hand torches, tended the casualties on the after-superstructure.

During the night a German E-boat tore out of the fog at a forty-knot clip across the Baldine's bows and off onto the Kelly and shot down the starboard side tearing away two boats, davits and guard rails. It then vanished, leaving wreckage that indicated it had foundered.

The second morning, when the other accompanying destroyer, H.M.S. Kandahar, reappeared, German bombers swooped down. Gunfire and an air escort of three Hudsons chased them away. Then four more warships came to act as escort for the Kelly. Enemy bombers attacked repeatedly, but were driven off.

STORMY WEATHER

Wind and waves rose during the day as the dead were committed to the sea. Kelly began to yaw almost unmanageably. All but eighteen officers and men who volunteered to man the guns were transferred to other warships.

The seas were so high, towing attempts had to be hailed. The flotilla leader lay waterlogged and stationary, apparently likely to founder any minute. Guardian aircraft planes then reported two U-boats directly in front of the crippled warship. Lord Louis Mountbatten decided to transfer his volunteers to H.M.S. Bulldog.

All that night Kelly lay abandoned, seas churning through her shattered ports. Exercising deathmen sicsisted in an unending circular patrol around their helpless leader.

Next day, Sunday, the tugs took charge of the Kelly.

Late next day the Kelly and her escort reached a British repair yard where cheering spectators gave her a rousing welcome. She had won through after ninety-one hours' grueling ordeal.

THREE WOUNDED AT COUNCIL MEETING

Shanghai race course. Police with machine guns, rifles and pistols intervened to end disorder which accompanied the shooting.

Doctors said the fact that Kawiyk was wearing a heavy coat saved his life. He suffered two wounds in his back.

J. W. Carney, a Standard Oil official and American member of the council, was hit on the head by a flying board in the disorder which followed the shooting.

Just before the shooting, the meeting had voted down a resolution by Hayashi protesting the council's recommendation for a 40 per cent increase in municipal taxes. The vote was followed by a demonstration among Japanese, who apparently desired a second vote.

CROWD RUSHES PLATFORM

Japanese in the crowd then rushed the platform, overcame chairman and other officials, at other members of the council until police dispersed them.

Kawiyk, thirty-six, is Shanghai manager of Jardine, Matheson & Company and a member of a family prominent in British trade in the Orient for half a century. His father is one of the largest foreign concerns in China.

When the racegoers voted down the Hayashi resolution, the Japanese began shouting and pushing forward, apparently demanding that Paul Schoel, Danish consul-general, who was presiding, take a one vote. During the clamor, spectators said, Hayashi mounted the platform.

Three shots were heard. Two struck Kawiyk. The third apparently hit both the wounded Japanese. I. Okamoto, member of the council, and S. Ikeda, a council secretary.

No action was taken on the tax recommendation.

FIXES TEACHER ANNUITY RATES

Graded Scale Sets Basic Contribution Per $10 Of Payment

Basic rates upon which British Columbia teachers will be asked to pay for retiring annuities under the newly-ratified Teachers' Pension Act were announced yesterday at the legislative Buildings, after passage of new resolutions under the statute. The regulations, comprising a table of rates, were signed by Norman Baker, acting as a commissioner under the act.

Contributions necessary to produce a single life annuity of $10 a month, commencing at the retiring age of sixty-five for men and sixty for women, to provide payment of half the amount of the annuity to a surviving beneficiary, and to provide also for payment of the full annuity upon total and permanent disablement were set out in a graded scale of which the following examples are typical:

BASE RATE TABLE

At age twenty a lump sum payments of $416, or $1.82 in ten monthly instalments annually, for men teachers, and $483, or $2.21 monthly for women. At age thirty, $526 or $3.55 monthly for men; $614, or $3.30 monthly for women. At age forty, $656 or $5.94 monthly for men; $766 or $5.62 for women. At age fifty, $804 or $7.27 for men; $1,076 or $13.03 for women. At age sixty, men only, $1,066 in a lump sum, or $22.73 monthly. At age sixty-five, for men only, $1,252, or $121.83 in ten monthly payments.

The base rate, now fixed by regulation, will be applied generally in the redrafted pension scheme. Multiples of the base rate will hold for annuities, which are multiples of the $10 monthly living allowance. There is a provision in the regulations dealing with the payment for ten years' teaching service before enrolment, where these rates are applied.

The regulations were approved by order in council yesterday.

Is Arrested on Lottery Charge

SEATTLE, Jan. 23 (AP)—One arrest and numerous additional Federal grand jury indictments were returned today by Assistant United States Attorney Frank Pelegrini in what he described as a blow at an international lottery organization with an annual "take" of about $250,000.

The man in custody was booked as Frank O'Flaherty, a Vancouver, B.C., accountant. He was arrested yesterday when he visited a Seattle safety deposit box and was held without charge until indicted. Bail was set at $10 000.

Re-elected School Board Chairman

MAJOR A. A. WARDER
WHO was re-elected chairman of the Esquimalt School Board at the annual meeting held last night. Major Warder has occupied the position since 1921. In the absence of the chairman, through illness, Trustee Alex Lockley presided, and welcomed the new members, Mrs. G. P. Murray and E. Ord. Estimates will be discussed on February 6.

BUREAU HELPS INCOME INFLUX

Response to Outside Inquiries Assists Increase in Money Into Victoria

Representative of the many inquiries answered by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, the firm of Nicholson Brothers, distributors of English and American motorcycles, Bakersfield, Calif., queried the office yesterday on the possibilities of holding a motorcycle speed trial on Vancouver Island, toward the end of February.

The bureau, which answers thousands of letters from outside points every year, was asked for information regarding the possibility of finding a beach or highway about two and one half miles in length from thirty to forty feet in width, and of another surface. The query was passed on to the chiefs of police and the different municipalities.

PROVINCIAL INCOME

Estimated by officials of the Chamber of Commerce, over $25,000 is spent annually in Victoria through the answering of questions proposed by people outside the province and frequently outside the North American Continent. Questions from firms all over the world are received asking about financial and industrial organizations. Many frequently result in a large sum of money being spent in the province.

Typical of such an instance is the exchange of 600,000 bags of coffee for a year's supply with Australia, of Canadian banks, bacon and wheat, which was negotiated through the Chamber of Commerce here.

The chamber forwards a directory of the fields of trade in Canada to Eastern centres, corrected annually, stating how many persons have become for the province are handled in the hundreds, with less than half of 1 per cent answered with incomplete statistics.

LITTLE INQUIRER

Nor is the little individual neglected who writes the bureau for information of assistance in filling an even odd information. All are answered to the best of the office's ability.

A gentleman from south of the line wrote up for information asking whether or not there was a tuxedo-wearing establishment in the city, as he desired to take in one or two parties during his sojourn in Victoria.

Another individual, also from south of the line, wrote asking if there was a "diaper service" here being a man of practical nature, he was all set to start one if such a want was here. The bureau never heard any more from him.

At one time the staff of the office thought it was going to be asked to construct a dog census here for an animal food firm which was anxious to find a starter, but enough information was obtained without the need of the census.

One youth in California wrote asking for tips from milk bottles of which he had a large collection, but the bureau was all set to start and scheme of collecting them. He got them.

ALL ARE HANDLED

Letters in foreign languages, legal relations and beneficiaries of wills and insurance policies, people seeking information of long lost or rough —very rough—descriptions of the $10 monthly living allowance to win the war, are all handled successfully by the Chamber of Commerce.

Perhaps the query that raised the head size of hats in the office was the one from the council of a little town in California who wrote asking all particulars concerning the plants, pots, posts, chains and one of the flower buckets hanging in the city on lamp posts here. True merit recognized.

Lillian Cooper Given Sentence Of Six Months

LILLIAN Cooper was sentenced to six months under Defence of Canada Regulations, in the Saanich police court yesterday. Magistrate Manny C. Hall asked the defendant, who was found to have subversive literature in her possession in quantity, if she had anything to say. Miss Magistrate Hall said he was taking into consideration the fact that she was a young woman and "I like her first offence. Wilson Moore, committed previously on a similar charge, received one year while Robert and Howard Meager were given nine months each for an identical offence.

NANAIMO CAMP BRIGADE UNIT

Brigadier J. B. Stevenson to Have Command of New Establishment

Brigadier J. B. V. Stevenson, Vancouver, will take over command of a brigade to be established at Nanaimo military camp, it was learned here yesterday.

In an announcement by Defence Department officials in Ottawa last December, Brigadier Stevenson was named to command the 16th Brigade of the Canadian Militia, as Major-General R. O. Alexander, O.O.C. the Pacific Coast command, who returned this city Wednesday from a visit to the Nanaimo camp, said that at least a portion of the permanent camp is expected to be occupied by the middle of February. Arrangements are being made to assign brigade staff as well as other units.

It is understood that the units which will probably make up the brigade will include the British Columbia Regiment (D.C.O.R.), the South Alberta Regiment, another prairie regiment, and a unit not yet determined. The British Columbia and South Alberta regiments have been established at Nanaimo for some time.

H. R. is not considered expedient to place a fourth unit in Nanaimo when the camp is completed, the accommodation will be utilized in some other manner, possibly by the establishment of an instruction school, for instance.

Major H. M. Thomas, who accompanied Major-General Alexander on his inspection tour to Nanaimo, has been named as brigade-major of the new camp. Major Thomas was formerly general staff officer of Military District No. 1 at London, Ont. A staff-captain of the brigade has yet to be appointed.

WINNIPEG MAN IS AWARDED O.B.E.

Commander Goodeve, R.N., Receives High Honor for Scientific Discoveries

Word has reached here of the awarding of the Order of the British Empire to Commander Charles F. Goodeve, R.N., whose home is in the district of Norwood, Winnipeg.

Commander Goodeve, thirty-seven years, who is a science graduate of the University of Manitoba, attained the distinguished honor as a result of scientific discoveries in regard to electrical currents causing explosions and for the part he played in researches to circumvent magnetic mines which were being used by the enemy to destroy shipping.

WON PLUMMER MEDAL

In 1927 he won the Plummer Medal of the Engineering Institute of Canada in conjunction with Dr. H. W. Shipley, for a study of alternating current electricity. He was awarded his bachelor of science degree at the University of Manitoba in 1925 and his master of science degree in 1927, and later in the same year won a scholarship at the University of London, England.

Commander Goodeve was five years ago made a lieutenant-commander of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve and was connected with the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve when he was in Winnipeg.

Commander Goodeve is well known in Victoria, having several times visited the city on business with local civic officials concerning inter-club relations and organization matters.

CANADIAN CLUB PRESIDENT HERE

Lieut.-Colonel James Mess, Toronto, Claims Workers Can Solve War Debt Problem

Lieut.-Col. James Mess, Toronto, president of the Association of Canadian Clubs, who is registered at the Empress Hotel, arrived in this city last night and this morning was guest of honor at a Club lunch.

In an interview yesterday, Col. Mess indicated that total economic backing is needed, as well as military strength, if Canada is to effectively assist in fighting Nazism. "Everyone is in this war to the hilt who calls himself a Canadian," said the visitor.

THE WILL TO WIN

In addition to backing the armed forces to the best of each one's ability, the club head said that all must have the will to win. He said that everyone is a Club member, propagandist, spreading the will to win and the truth.

Col. Mess forwarded the suggestion that the war debt could be effectively handled by the workers at the Dominion. With an estimated 2,000,000 in Canada, if each one gave two hours' pay, averaging fifty cents per hour, to the Government, it would mean a return of $3,000,000 per day.

Col. Mess addressed the executive of the Canadian Club last night on the "Army Behind the Army". He also spoke to the Gyro Club and to the Gorge Club.

GLUBMEN HEAR TALK ON PENANG

M. J. Thorpe, Guest Speaker, Describes Life on "Beauty Spot of Malaya"

Prior to his talk on his former residence, Mr. Thorpe expressed his thanks to the different governmental departments, including the Customs and Immigration departments for their assistance in entering Canada. He intimated that his arrival in Victoria was due mainly to the interest taken in his inquiries of Victoria by the Publicity Bureau and the Government.

In describing Penang, or Georgetown, as it is officially known, the speaker said the island was formerly known as the Prince of Wales Island. It is situated on the west coast of Malaya, some 190 miles from the mainland, 360 miles north of Singapore. It has an area of 108 square miles.

FREE PORT

A free port, the city has only a consumption tax on liquors and tobacco. It is on the main trade route northward to Europe. Telling of the climate the speaker said that the rains were tropical in nature, falling from perhaps one cloud in an otherwise clear sky, with awesome thunder and lightning accompanying the downpour.

Temperature remains constantly between 80 and 90 degrees, with much humidity. An average of 166 64 inches of rain falls per year. Due to the heat, burial of the dead takes place inside twelve hours.

Wild life on the island consists of several types of poisonous snakes, including the python, cobra, and the "seeing was" snake, as well as snipe, and wild boars.

POPULATION OF CITY

The population of the city is some 170,000, divided between whites, Chinese, Eurasians, Malayans and Indians. Government is by the Crown.

The speaker was introduced by Gerald Yardley, who also introduced another guest at the luncheon, Angus S. Mitchell, director of Rotary International, from Melbourne, Australia. G. Hamilton Harman proposed cheers for the Australian guest, out of respect for the work the "down under" troops are doing in the East.

WHAT IS IT COSTING to keep the Nazi heel out of Canada?

"History will record many strange and mighty events of this year. 'Among the strangest will be this: That Canada—numerically a small nation of a dozen million souls in North America—suddenly found herself occupying a strategic position of supreme importance in a conflict that would deeply affect the whole of mankind.

"Canada abruptly became almost the keystone upon which depended the whole arch of democracy and freedom throughout the whole world."

-SIR NORMAN ANGELL

What are we doing to keep the Nazi Heel out of Canada?

We are marshalling every resource in manpower, material and money. Huge new plants to make war equipment are under construction and others are projected. In all existing plants, production has been stepped up to the limits of efficiency. 1941 will see vast expansion in our war effort.

What is this effort costing the people of Canada?

The cost of Canada's war effort is running at the rate of over One Billion Dollars per year and will steadily increase. We must remember that Canada's contribution to victory is planned deliberately and definitely on the basis of the maximum war effort of which Canada is capable.

What about our Army?

We now have more than 165,000 men on Active Service and thousands of others in training.

What about our Air Force?

A year ago the R.C.A.F. had a personnel of 4,500. Now it has more than 35,000, without counting the thousands from overseas who are training under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

What about the Air Training Plan?

There are already over 50 flying fields and schools in operation. There will be 83 by September, 1941. The Air Training Plan over three years will cost $600,000,000, of which Canada's share will be $350,000,000.

What about the Navy?

When war was declared, Canada had 15 fighting vessels. Today we have 180 of various types. Within a year, another 150 will be added to strengthen and enlarge the Empire's life-line through which flows the ever-growing supply of vital war material. The ship construction programme is costing $80,000,000 and is giving employment now, to 17,000 men.

What about Materiel Equipment?

Canada leads in the production of motorized military equipment. This industry has been geared up to a production capacity of about 600 units per day of the various types of automotive equipment necessary for mechanized warfare. Contracts awarded for motorized equipment total $127,000,000.

What are we doing about Munitions?

The construction and financing of new plants in Canada on behalf of the Canadian and British governments for the manufacture of tanks, planes, guns, explosives, shells, and other war equipment is costing over $280,000,000; including $87,000,000 for chemical and explosive plants, $31,000,000 for shell plants, and $96,000,000 for armament plants.

How do Canadians provide this money for our War Effort?

They contribute through taxes of various kinds... they subscribe to War Loans... they purchase War Savings Certificates regularly. We all are in the "financial forces"—ours is the responsibility of seeing to it that our fighting forces have the adequate and vital supplies and equipment to bring about victory.

Must Canadians be prepared to sacrifice?

Yes. The Prime Minister stated in his New Year's message that the task in 1941 "is going to demand more effort and more sacrifice".

No one need go without necessities, but you are urged to forego the purchase of unnecessary articles—no matter how small the cost—no matter how well you are able to pay for them—which take labour and material away from the great task of providing goods needed to win the war.

How can you help Canada's War Effort?

Be sure to make provision to pay your Income Tax—payment is made easier by the new instalment plan. But be prepared to do more—budget your earnings to make sure that you will have money available to buy War Savings Certificates and to subscribe for War Loan Bonds. You will help Canada—you will help yourself.

THE STILETTOED CONFERENCE

The praise of the Dominion is fairly well at one in its estimate of the failure of the Ottawa Conference on the Rowell-Sirois Report. Liberal, Conservative and Independent newspapers alike agree that the Dominion is sadly lacking in leadership, a fact that is becoming more evident since the outbreak of the War. Here are some extracts from comment made by the press from one end of the country to the other:

Halifax Herald: No Government representative at the Sirois Conference, Federal or Provincial, had a mandate to bring about the Confederation of this Dominion, involving, as it would have involved, sweeping changes in the British North America Act.

Montreal Star: The deliberate wrecking of the conference therefore lies at their door. Mr. Hepburn and his two supporters . . . have come to the conference it was certainly their duty to suggest some better method of meeting Canada's urgent needs. That they were unwilling even to discuss possible alternatives will be taken by many people as demonstrating the degree of their sincerity and giving the measure of their Canadianism.

Toronto Globe and Mail: If we have learned anything, it is that we are led by pygmies. The events that are now tearing the world asunder will shape our destiny despite the worst endeavors of the mediocre men.

Hamilton Spectator: What will doubtless bring the deepest disappointment to the citizens of the Dominion, and then fill them with resentment and indignation and disgust is the sorry fact that this vital report, which cost $800,000, and took two and a half years of hard study, is dead and buried as was not even considered. That is the unbelievable feature, and its impact is almost stunning.

Kingston Whig-Standard: The real issue which might be taken would be for the Federal Government to ask the Provinces just what suggestions they can put forward for reducing the costs of government, bringing about a closer union of all Canadian provinces, and strengthening Canada's war effort.

Brantford Expositor: The conference failed because of an absence of sponsorship or leadership on the part of the Dominion Government. It failed because of parochial and narrow political attitudes adopted by men who were so concerned with the requirements of their particular provinces that they failed to have regard for the needs of the country as a whole.

London Free Press: If Premier Hepburn found that it was impossible to secure concessions which he felt were satisfactory to Ontario he could have withdrawn. But to throw a monkey wrench into the conference's work before it ever started was the action not of a constructive statesman, but of a wrecker.

Winnipeg Free Press: They (Messrs. Hepburn, Aberhart and Patullo) left home with the intention of wrecking the conference and they will earn no public acclaim because they made the journey. They had closed their minds before they reached Ottawa, and speeches they made there bore on those of reasoned argument. They wanted to pull the house down, and they did their best.

Regina Leader-Post: Mitchell F. Hepburn sank the dagger of disunity into the back of the undersigning, and then with sadistic glee turned it, as had his accomplices both before and after the fact, the interests of British Columbia and Alberta. They all must feel very proud of their work today.

Edmonton Bulletin: Representatives of Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia refused to even allow the subject to be discussed.

Vancouver Sun: The spectacle is almost beyond belief. It will amaze, disgust and disgust every thinking Canadian.

PERSPECTIVE OF NEWS VALUES

Since the beginning of the year the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has been handling its own news broadcasts, which, prior to that time, had been prepared for that organization by the Canadian Press. The C.B.C. obtains much of its news from the Canadian Press, at no cost, and it can re-hash it as it will, being a politically-dominated broadcasting institution. It can arrogate to itself the composition of what it regards as news values. Needless to say, all news favorable to the Government in power from a provincial viewpoint, whether it warrants such or not, and no word of criticism of that Government is allowed to be heard over the C.B.C. Complaints are received time to time from people who pay the governing news broadcasts, and it would be well if, in this respect at least, the C.B.C. were to set its house in order.

Yesterday the C.B.C., in more than one of its broadcasts, gave as much prominence to the evidence of Colonel Charles Lindbergh before the Foreign Affairs Committee at Washington on the "Aid to British Bill as it gave to the fall of Tobruk. The broadcasts explained in detail the anti-aggressive he gave voice to on the present War, and the reasons for his individual opposition to the measure proposed by President Roosevelt and now before Congress. Colonel Lindbergh is not a fighting man and has never been engaged in battle. It does not appear that at present he holds any official position in the United States. For those reasons, whatever he has to say has little value in the United States of what he had to say about the present War, it had, of a certainty, little or none in Canada. It is difficult to appreciate, therefore, why the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation should have regarded his evidence as one of the news highlights of the day. It was simply the opinion of a man without any knowledge at first hand of either war or government, and of one whose experience in aviation has been confined to pleasure, adventure and constructional features of certain aircraft.

It was a somewhat grotesque conception of news values that led the C.B.C. to regard the evidence of Colonel Lindberg before the Foreign Affairs Committee as of equal importance to that given by the Secretaries of State for War and the Navy of the United States, to say nothing of the evidence of Admirals and Generals. The C.B.C. needs to overhaul the machinery that manufactures its perspective of news values.

WOULD LESSEN WAR EFFORT

The Times, New York, opposes American participation in the development of the St. Lawrence Seaway. It says that the more the project is studied as a defence measure the weaker it becomes. If the United States needs additional power, "it can obtain it, practically overnight, at Niagara, at multiple laws that they had made. But through it all, and this column likes particularly to remember this fact, politics never succeeded in getting in at the door. The little usher, who had given one arm for his country, would gladly have given the other rather than "have that happen." This column is written in his memory.

Note and Comment

BY SANDHAM GRAVES

Past scenes bury themselves fast enough in these days of high-speed living, but there is one scene—or rather a succession of scenes—that this column goes back to time and again in retrospect. Step lightly, but come with me now into the Palais Royale Café of a previous 1940, with a strange device as it used to be in the days when cabarets were the rage. Here we are a little early. A black-robed usher is pulling down the blinds over the back windows of the ballroom, overlooking the harbor. Orders imparitially, almost judicially; and with the air of one who could say yes and could say no, but has no intention of saying anything whatever. The shades adjusted, and the lights on the usher turns in Report. To the Law, K.C., standing nonchalantly in through the judges' entrance. Hard on his heels, but keeping three paces apart, comes Prudence, comes Mr. Fact, K.C., smiling and pleased to be recognized the fact that he is on time. Their footsteps do not like to be kept waiting.

With a keen eye and unruffled calm, the registrar runs over them. Yes, senior counsel are in their usual associated positions; dilute junior counsel ditto, ditto; the bailiff drawn the lights on; the recorder in his place; the seats filled, and not been distributed. The registrar identifies the jury; the oath for their lordships, and puts the books in their places. Slowly then, he scans the prisoner's dock, frowns two law students into stunned immobility, and finally surveys the gallery. Everything is in order. The usher disappears, like a mobile black shadow, to carry their lordships

No doubt it is not possible to convey adequately the atmosphere of the presidencies of the entry of five justices, rarb, tie, of impressive gravity and dignity, walking tandem. Now they are at the door. Now they mount the dais. Now they pulled in their chairs—not their final ones, by a long way—to their movable and more comfortable chairs. Now the chief justice bows to the assembled, the waiting counsel; and utters his deceptively gentle: "Pray be seated." It is no longer a room with paneled woodwork and stained glass windows. It has become a court, with powers of life and death over fellow man

Mr. Law, K.C., bobs for the appellant's case. Mr. Fact, K.C., for the respondents. The recorder bows to him to open the case. He proceeds to finish a blotter. The registrar bows over the peremptory list. Senior counsel bob once more. Court opens matinee. Waiting counsel bob in anticipation. Here is a case of theft. With a dry crackle of "m'louds." Mr. Fact, K.C., rises to his feet and the jury. Mr. Fact, K.C., still smiling, is making a swift inward inventory of the facts. That is proceeding through the appeal book searching for the endorsement of the writ, which tells the story

There is not room to display how clever Mr. Law, K.C., was in the appear that this is a case solely of law, nor, in reply, how plain it is to Mr. Fact, K.C., that the law has not a thing to do with it, the issue being one of fact. Now that appellate hear it all; differing sharply at times as to the statement of the law and stating succinctly to the jury that senior counsel has been quite overlooked. It now seems apparent that there is contention both as to the law and the facts, and the balance at the peremptory list is dismissed for the day

Titanic bottles have been waged in that courtroom before, and with a strange device, without the raising of a single voice. Millions of dollars have changed hands, or have been divided or have been declared not even to exist, as a result of the nimbleness of Messrs. Law and Messrs. Fact. Never was the whole Legislature would burn if it will go by the time. Sensibility is the subject of the intention of the Legislature," and opinions on the

According to The New Yorker, the creator of the cartoon strip Superman was recently arrested in Miami, Florida, as a suspicious character. Police were given a release when he declined a likeness of his fabulous brain child

. . . While drilling a new sewerage, our tobacconist friend was heard to remark: "You are so long. You will not even labor under a delusion" . . . . We dock in the Superman with a new breed of friend. On Tuesday night they sat on the basement of a girl's home listening to a radio programme. Then the girl rested her head on Wee Willie's shoulder. "I think your shoulder is so nice and soft," she murmured. "Not as soft as your head." Wee Jock replied . . . . Of course such people cannot see that it is working right now in the United States . . . .

We know Bill, the Broad Street bum. He is rather taller than I have little or no evidence as to his weight. Not being ago Mrs. Bill thought she heard a prowler in their bark door, but the barber replied it was probably a stray. The following morning Mrs. Bill was explaining the incident to a neighbor. "Was Bill cool when you heard the prowler?" the neighbor asked. "Cool!" exclaimed Mrs. Bill exclaimed "Why he was so cool that he shivered all over."—C.B.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The Canadian Pacific—Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Company and the New Westminster Southern Railway Company will be formally connected at Blaine on Monday next, when the first through passenger train is to be held. This means that as soon as the Seattle & Northern is completed to Hamilton, Ont., Canadian Pacific Railway passengers will run into Vancouver, and that the city on Fidalgo Island will be on the main line of the great transcontinental railway systems. There are some railway lines now building, and some projected towards Anacortes than any other city on the Pacific Coast

Good for Victoria—Passing through the grounds of the House of Parliament yesterday, a prominent member of the Legislature remarked upon the refreshing appearance of the grass and the fragrance which it exhaled, contrasting it with the condition of things in Eastern Canada and elsewhere. He thought this spoke volumes in favor of this Province as a place for settlement, adding, the more the local advantages are known the higher they will be appreciated.

Panther Hunter—John Weir Mershon, one of the pioneers of this country, killed another panther in his district on Wednesday last. Mr Weir receives from the Provincial Government a bonus of five dollars for every panther's head he delivers at the Provincial police station.

Rescued From Ship Bombed at Sea

This following is a story of a letter written by Mrs. Ethel Dixon, 1781 Pool Boy Road, Victoria, B.C., to her son, Pte. Dixon, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, now stationed in Victoria for many years. This officer was British, but Dunkerque evacuation, and there lost all his personal effects. He is now in Victoria visiting. Later he was sent to West Africa. On his return from there to Victoria he was married. Here is what Mrs. Dixon said everything but his life . . .

"Dear . . . I expect you would be interested to know some details of the shipwreck. It happened a long way [illegible] largest ship in the convoy and therefore, a valuable target. A lone bomber attacked us in the mist [illegible] have also [illegible] information. [illegible] dropped down the hatch and made a direct hit with two bombs. Great flames [illegible] the ship to [illegible] setting fire to our cargo, of palm kernels, and the other tore an enormous hole in the side of the ship just on the water-line. There were no gas attacks [illegible] and the explosion and bombers actually [illegible] the ship, of course, caught fire and finally broke in two, sinking in about one and a half hours. There was no time to do anything except save one's most precious papers and help some of the wounded, etc. I was in the last boat off and we got half swamped as one of the other boats capsized and plunged into the water [illegible] We picked up three of the men [illegible] more until they had to [illegible] retreat as the ship took a sudden dive. [illegible] and [illegible] sank then and there and drag us down with them . . . .

"We roped about for an hour or so the convoy had meanwhile dispersed and then made for a small island [illegible] where [illegible] was detailed to pick up survivors. It was a rough job, there was a very heavy swell running. Impossible to lower ropes or rope ladders and grave danger of some being smashed to the side of the cruiser ship. We had one or two [illegible] in our boat and six women. I wound the baby up in my fur coat and we were on the ship to lower a canvas bucket affair into which we tied her. Then the fight began to get them aboard her up. There was such a heavy swell that the ship was rolling right over the after deck-well of the steamer and the only way for the men to get on board was to wait until the swell brought our boat level over the deck and then the deck of the ship, and then make a dive on board, assisted by willing hands. Some of the men had to remain on deck on my head, but was thankful to say that [illegible] safely on board. The crew was [illegible] and looked after us and everything. We slumbered in the engine room and dried our clothes by the furnace and [illegible] unfortunately the ship had been at sea for two days and [illegible] completely run out of all alcoholic drinks and cigarettes. And, worst of all, the ship was carrying no fresh meat—only [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] that night. There had been no bunks on the tramp ship [illegible] . . . .

"I had been in charge of a party of eleven Poles (refugees) coming back from West Africa, and right [illegible] they were separated up to the same ship. So, on arrival in Liverpool, I had to look after them, take the wounded ones to hospital (as I had managed to save clothes for others, and get a little money for all of them from the Shipwrecked Mariners' Association). Eventually I took them all by train to Glasgow, delivered them to the Polish Consul-General, from whom I got a receipt! They were a grand lot, and [illegible] more amazing adventures, and were all on board to continue the fight. I'm glad I grew to be really fond of them, and was sorry to say 'Good-bye' [illegible] of sixteen [illegible] machine gun behind street barricades in Warsaw when the Germans entered. He was then fifteen. He [illegible] through Yugoslavia and had all his clothes taken away from [illegible] age as eighteen and managed to join a Polish battalion as a gunrunner He was shot down four times and had to [illegible] to the enemy territory. After the French collapse he made his way to Marseilles and [illegible] for a month. He then [illegible] himself as an ACAD and boarded a ship for Oran. From there he made his way into Morocco to Casablanca. The police [illegible] him up there, but he escaped from a moving train. He was arrested after the [illegible] and put in a cattle truck and [illegible] Casablanca, who had him in a cattle truck and [illegible] put him on a ship bound for Dakar. From there he walked to Bathurst and then made his way to Freetown where he joined our steamer. He had all his clothes and everything. Such courage and endurance deserves success! I hope they get it. Some of their stories of happenings in Poland under the Germans were too horrible to repeat . . . .

"In regard to the war, I think the tide is just beginning to change, and I also think that in the next few months there will be remarkable and favorable changes in the African situation."

A CHANT OF LOVE

Sir,—On today's editorial page you publish a poem entitled "England," with a note at the end that the author is unknown. This is rather a pity because one of the great points about this poem is that it was written by an American, Helen Gray Cone, and was published in the Atlantic Monthly in 1915. Further, the concluding line of the poem is "An American Chapt of Love for England."

You will note from the above that this is no mere glorification, by an Englishman, of England, but a sincere appreciation by America

IN OLD AGE

Sir,—Being a reader of your paper for many years, I would like to express my opinion about age-players and old age. It is curious how one tends to look upon old age. A boy forty-five years he is considered fit for all kinds of employment, or may be an experienced mechanic in any line of construction or what not, but he is too old.

Today we hear a lot about old age and youth problems. We "old fogies" perch stroking your white hair and [illegible] "Oh, what a problem we have!" The latter you may quote me as to have the false notion that old age necessitates inactivity. If you have an idea of retiring when you are sixty, abandon these ideas entirely by old men.

Titian painted his famous battle of Lepanto when he was ninety-eight. Von Moltke was in uniform at ninety-eight. Commodore Vanderbilt did not become a great railroad king until he was seventy; at eighty-eight he was the most active railroad man of his day. Sonnets issued from Goethe's pen when he was eighty. Pasteur discovered his hydrophobia cure after he was sixty-

ST. MARK'S HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Reports Show Good Work Accomplished—Celebration of Fiftieth Anniversary Planned

A large number of parishioners were present at the annual meeting of St. Mark's parish, held on Tuesday night. Reports from the various organizations showed that much good work had been accomplished during the year, attendance at the church services were very encouraging, and all appointments and assessments had been met in full.

Discussion took place concerning the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the parish, which will be held the second Sunday after Easter and a committee was formed to prepare a suitable programme.

It was decided by the parishioners that in preparation for the celebration the church and parish hall should be painted and new books obtained for the church.

During the year the parish sustained a heavy loss in the passing of the late W. A. McMillan, who served the parish faithfully for many years, it was stated.

The following officers were appointed: Delegates to synod, H. B. Prince, A. C. Clarke; Colonel Bigway Wilson, G. T. Hughes, P. E. George and B. Bassett; church committee, A. C. Clarke, H. B. Prince, J. D. Marshall, P. E. George, S. G. Wilson, Miss M. Holyoake, Mrs. C. Heshfield, Colonel Sidgeway Wilson, Mrs. H. Townsend and H. Birtwhistle, delegates to rural deanal conference, P. E. George, G. T. Hughes, and Mrs. Hughes; vicar's warden, G. T. Hughes; people's warden, A. Cullen.

The meeting closed with the blessing and refreshments were served following the business session.

REPORTS GIVEN ON WORK DONE

Many Attend Annual Meeting Of St. Alban's—New Officers Elected

St. Alban's Church annual meeting was held in the Hall on Thursday with Rev. Fred Comley in the chair. Rev. Canon Norman Smith, of St. Barnabas', conducted the opening ceremonies and gave a special thanks giving for the safety of his son, who is serving on board H.M.S. Southampton. Those present showed their pleasure at this news with a round of applause.

There was a good attendance, including an encouraging number of young people representing the various organizations. The congregation rose in silent tribute to the memory of those who had been taken from their midst during the year.

The financial statement showed a marked increase in receipts, a substantial basis being laid for the savings for the church's missions, including the Jubilee and office funds, all groups well in excess of last year. There was also a notable increase in the Sunday envelope subscriptions.

Several organizations showed increased efficiency and activity during the year the Sunday school executive showing a gain, together with the resignations of the superintendent, Mrs E. Andrews, and the secretary and treasurer, Miss Pennington. It was reported that A. Greeg had resumed duties as superintendent, assistant duties, and Miss Comber the secretary and treasurer's duties.

The Woman's Society made its usual splendid effort to assist with the finances of the church and in the beautifying of the church for the great festivals and the work of the altar linen. The Bertha W. A. showed an increase in membership and its financial report, as presented, satisfactory, showed a substantial gain. The Girls' W. A. has undertaken various projects under the leadership of Mrs. Mayhew and Miss Mayhew, and shows a very high average attendance. The Junior W.A. had recently been reorganized by Mrs. Gardiner, assisted by Miss Hilda Gallup, and their numbers are increasing. The Young Helpers Branch of the W.A. also in course of reorganization, but unfortunately the able leader, Mrs. Bayley was unable to carry on alone due to ill health.

In the name of the congregation, Mr. Comley thanked A. Agland for the very welcome gift of a handsome piano desk and a beautiful book for the vestry. During the year the church was provided the hall pedestal eagle and a permanent screen for sliders for movies was installed, it was reported.

NEW FUSELAGE BEING TESTED

Plastic Materials May Radically Alter and Advance Plane Production

OTTAWA, Jan. 23 (CP)—Tests of plastic airplane fuselages now being carried out at Rendis Field, N.J., may radically alter and substantially advance Canada's programme of aircraft production, a Munitions and Supply Department source said today.

It is expected a complete fuselage will be ready for flying within thirty days. If tests prove the value of this new system of manufacture Canada will at once arrange for production in the Dominion.

The test fuselages are for the Aeron trainer model, the manufacture of which in Canada, for the Empire Air Training Plan, has been beset by difficulties.

Ralph P. Bell, director of aircraft production, visited the aircraft research laboratories at Rendis Field recently and reported a successful test of an Aeron trainer "nose" made of plastic materials.

Then aerial Aeron fuselages were sent to the laboratories for use as models. If flying tests are successful, it is expected also 100 plastic fuselages will be bought there as an experimental order while plans for manufacture in Canada are being completed.

This type of fuselage is much lighter than the metal fuselage, and in use is quicker to repair and the cost will be about one-third of the metal type.

WOULD UNITE DEMOCRACIES

Meeting at New York Hears Advocates in Favor of Immediate Merger

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (CP).—A well-known American called upon right for immediate Federal union of all English-speaking democracies of the world, based on the United States Constitution.

In speeches at "the uniting states of the world dinner" of Federal Union Incorporated, Thomas Mann, refugee German author; Playwright Clare Boothe, Columnist Dorothy Thompson and Clarence K. Streit, author and former foreign correspondent, agreed on the principle of a union of democracies. Another speaker was Lord Marley, deputy speaker of the British House of Lords.

Mann, strong anti-Hitlerite and a Nobel Prize winner, said "there is hardly any doubt that if, in 1939, such a union, the union of all real democracies, under the leadership of the greatest and most powerful one on earth, could have been brought about, Hitler never would have dared his pernicious adventure."

Streit said that when Union Now was proposed in 1939, people "said it was a dream."

URGES ACTION FOR UNION

"They seemed to prefer a nightmare to a dream," he added. "The nightmare came. And now we Federal Unionists propose to you that America act for peace before this war brings our-free world down to doom."

Miss Booth said the policy of the union "would have these seven democracies (the United Kingdom, Canada, United States, Eire, Union of South Africa, Australia and New Zealand) do what our thirteen states did long ago. Give effect to the union programme as a plan to assure a democratic victory in the present war and to win a free civilized area of the world at peace."

Miss Thompson said the war "is a race between Hitler and Federal Union to see which will be in Royal Oak Burial Park

Frame House in Saanich Is Total Loss

Fire on an undetermined origin destroyed a five-roomed dwelling on Martindale Road, near Telegraph Bay in Saanich, yesterday afternoon. Fire department officials were unable last night to ascertain the cause of the blaze. The house was vacant but was being renovated at the time.

The alarm was received at the Saanich Fire Station at 4.52 o'clock and two trucks were sent out on the long run. When the trucks arrived the fire had taken a firm hold and lack of water prevented any attempt to check the conflagration. However, several outbuildings were saved, but the house was a total loss. Firemen remained at the scene until after dark.

FOUR AIRDROMES TAKEN

British troops were reported to have command of airports at El Adem El Gazala and El Timimi, and the seaplane base at Bomba. All these can be used as British bases after some clearing up has been done, it was said.

British circles in Cairo jubilant over the fall predicted the remainder of Cirenaica (Eastern Libya)—including the coastal bases at Derna and Benghazi—would be in the hands of Gen.-in-Chief Archibald P. Wavell's forces by Spring.

These sources said the greatest obstacle in this achievement might be the German air force, recently operating in the Mediterranean. They declared, however, that should Hitler find it necessary to take a major hand in the War in North Africa in an effort to save Libya for the Italians, Britain would have achieved a major objective in freeing the Germans to divide their forces.

COULD ISOLATE HUMP

With the capture of the mechanized units operating in the vicinity of Mekili, the British forces could take a short cut across an inland road along the coast, these sources said, and attempt to isolate Derna Apollonia and other towns on the coastal hump.

There was an indication here of how strong the Italian forces holding Mekili are, but military observers said the force was believed nothing like as large as were those at Tobruk. Mekili is at the junction of highways one of which cuts inland across the hump inland to Benghazi and others lead to Derna and Apollonia.

In the Gallabat and Kassala regions on the Sudan Front in East Africa several sharp engagements were reported in which the Italians were said to have suffered "considerable losses."

The Italians were reported to be steadily retiring in these sectors and also on the Kenya Front.

AIR FORCE COMMUNIQUE

The Royal Air Force issued this communique:

"During the night of January 20-21 bomber aircraft of the Royal Air Force carried out several heavy raids on Derna (Libya). Several tons of bombs were dropped on barracks and other military targets, causing large fires with explosions which increased as other aircraft carried on the attack.

"The fires were visible eighty miles away and the explosions continued after the aircraft left the Israeli Raids were made yesterday on Benina and Apollonia. Two fighters patrolling over Tobruk on January 21, one of our bombers failed to return.

"Covering the army advance RAF fighters maintained continuous patrols throughout yesterday. In an engagement with a number of enemy aircraft, one enemy monoplane fighter was shot down at Bir Mchereb (twenty-six miles west of Tobruk) and one of our aircraft was lost.

"In Italian East Africa," further raids were made on Asmara and Massaua. From these operations all our aircraft returned safely."

KINSMEN HEAR PAINTING TALK

Captain C. F. Barker Shows Examples of His Hobby To Club Members

Illustrating his talk with examples of his craftsmanship, Captain C. F. Barker, noted Victoria artist and sportsman, addressed the Kinsmen Club at its regular meeting in Spencer's dining-room last night.

A painter of some repute, whose work is known throughout Canada, Captain Barker told how he came to take up painting as a hobby, declaring it perpetuate birds and animals in paint rather than destroy them as he had done while hunting. Displaying a number of his pen-and-pencil work, Captain Barker taught himself, with a thoroughness that even included a year's study of geology, to be able to depict landscapes truly.

Taking as his subjects any part of British Columbia, and Vancouver Island in particular, Captain Barker showed examples in crayon and paper, in oils and water-colors. Examples shown included Mystery Mountain, scenes taken from the Big Bend Highway, Cooleemee and the Columbia Glacier. The artist also showed examples of still life and figure painting.

Introduced by T. Dickinson, the speaker entertained the club members with stories relative to the paintings, and of fellow artists, including the late John Bradford and John Innis.

The club meeting was under the chairmanship of President Harold Winterburn.

NARROW ESCAPE IN AIR COMBAT

Bombs Jettisoned From Nazi Plane Come Close to Canadian Fighter's

LONDON, Jan. 23 (CP)—A young Canadian flyer, seen only the second time escaped death by a few feet when jettisoned bombs crashed from a Junkers 88 which he and another youthful pilot were attacking with Douglas Bader, commanding officer of the Royal Air Force's Canadian squadron.

The bombs were jettisoned just before the bomber was sent crashing into the North Sea by bursts of fire from eight-gun Hurricanes and the Canadian later described them as "supremely fine."

Bader and the Canadian were finishing off the bomber they had sighted 2,000 feet above them. They roared into a steep climb and Bader sent a three-second burst into the big craft and then gave a chance to his Canadian to take turns in attacking it.

Air Force Hostess Club at Sidney Is Opened by Governor

Attractive Recreational Centre Scene of Official Ceremony, Which Is Attended by 250 Persons—Dance Held Last Evening

THE most westerly hostess club in the Y.W.C.A.'s Dominion-wide chain of such establishments, was opened yesterday at Sidney, B.C., for the men of the R.C.A.F. station at Patricia Bay, their relatives and friends. The official opening took place at 4 o'clock, and the clubhouse was thronged with visitors, many having driven out from Victoria to be present on the special occasion.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, who was introduced by Dr. Olga Jardine, president of the board of directors of the Y.W.C.A., spoke of the value of such a recreational centre and paid a tribute to Air Commodore A. E. Godfrey and the officers and men of the R.C.A.F. for their assistance in promoting the project and giving their full co-operation to the women who had done so much towards furnishing and arranging the clubhouse.

APPRECIATE HELP

The speech were welcomed by Dr. Olga Jardine who graciously thanked His Honor and Mrs. Hamber for having consented to attend the opening ceremony, and added a special word of gratitude to the airmen of the Patricia Bay Station, who had done the carpentering, painting and other work in connection with the alterations to the Anglican Church Hall, which has been placed at the disposal of the committee for the duration. The Air Services Auxiliary, the three services and the residents of Sidney had all been most generous, Dr. Jardine said.

LONG FELT NEED

Air Commodore A. E. Godfrey briefly addressed the gathering, saying that the hostess house should fill a long-felt need at Patricia Bay Station, and that its establishment would increase as time went on. The personnel of the station was to be changed every six months, he said, which would mean many newcomers to the district, who would find in the hostess house a friendly welcome for themselves and their relatives. He thanked the Jardine brothers for giving their time in the interests of the airmen, and assured the committee of the continued cooperation of the Western Air Command.

COMMANDING OFFICER

Wing-Commander L. F. Wray, officer commanding the Patricia Bay Station, congratulated the committee and expressed his appreciation of the help given by the residents of the district.

"There may be times," he said, "when you may wonder if your work is appreciated by the men, for they may not be very eloquent in their thanks nor in the way in which they express their appreciation but I can assure you that those who are fortunate enough to be chosen for front line work overseas will regret you for the way they know best." Applause followed Wing-Commander Wray's words.

Flight-Lieutenant Rev H S Mc-Donald, R.C.A.F. chaplain, then dedicated the hostess club in a short prayer.

HOME-LIKE ATMOSPHERE

The formal proceedings over, the official party was escorted through the clubhouse, inspecting the kitchen and the attractively furnished sitting-room, where a large stone fireplace, bright chintz-covered chairs and sofas, writing desks, books, and the comforts of soft carpets and home-like furnishings were much admired. In the main recreation room the visitors viewed the sporting table arranged with a silver bowl of snowdrops, being presided over by Mrs. Wray, wife of the officer commanding the R.C.A.F. station.

Outside the forty-piece band of the Patricia Bay Station, under the direction of Bandmaster A. F. Tuke played excellent selections. The National Anthem being played as His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Hamber arrived, accompanied by Mrs. Mae Rice, Mr. Hew Paterson—R.C.A.F. Group Kites—Squadron Leader Ward Peck son of Colonel Cy Peck, V.C. and Mrs. Peck.

J. C. Pringle and Mrs. P. E. Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Spencer, Mrs. Alan Morrell, Mrs. Lennox Irving, Adjutant Stratton, Adjutant Charles Watt, Miss Blythe Mrs. A. E. Victoria College Notes

By A. PRESHETTE

At the Social Problems Club meeting Thursday noon Professor E. B. Parr presented an interesting talk on "Education in a Democracy."

On Monday night the men's and women's basketball teams travelled to Duncan to play the Duncan High School teams. The College boys won in their game with the Duncan boys with a score of 26-22, while the girls of the College lost to the Duncan girls with a 28-10 score.

This year the Victoria College Players' Club will not present a flowing play. When the military training plans upset the three scheduled one-act plans, the girls of the College tried to arrange an all-girl production, but this will be impossible this term.

College boys are turning out twice a week for Rugby practice at 7.30 o'clock in the morning.

Captain Elmore Philpott addressed the International Relations Club on Thursday evening. His subject was "World Conditions of Today." The topic proved to be interesting and, at the same time enlightening to all students present.

Anglican Young People

ST. MARY'S

A successful discussion night was held by St. Mary's Association on Tuesday, the topic being "Reconstruction of the State." Audrey Smith, turned in her resignation as captain of Group II, and Fred Hurd was elected to fill the vacant position. Next Tuesday the branch will hold a whist and bridge card party in aid of the Rectory fund, and will be held in the hall at 8 p.m. Members were reminded to hand in names of prospective members wishing to attend the Valentine reunion supper, to the president by next week at the latest.

Conservatory Club Studies Bach's Music

The trio for voice, violin and piano was "Sight, Tears, Care and Grief," from Cantata No. 21; the quartette for two violins, viore and piano, was "Sheep May Safely Graze," and the trio for voice, violin and piano was "With Small Voices Also May God's Majesty Be Sung."

Recordings included the second movement of the D Minor double concerto for two violins, played by Menuhin and Enesco.

BACH'S GENIUS

Mrs. C. S. Beals early in her talk stressed that Bach's genius as a composer was not recognized until almost a hundred years after his death, and that all his works were not completely published until 1900. Today, thanks to radio and phonograph, as well as the older forms of interpretation, Bach is more admired and beloved than during his own lifetime or any period since. Bach was first and foremost a composer for the organ, which served as the foundation of his style in all his compositions.

The members' thanks and appreciation were expressed both to the speaker and assisting artists.

A business meeting preceded the address, with Miss Harper in the chair. Later, refreshments were served, Miss Margaret Pringle assisting the hostess.

Bach history was greatly enjoyed last Tuesday by members of the Toronto Conservatory Club, at the home of the president, Miss Greendolyn Harper, Bank Street.

Mrs. C. S. Beals was the speaker and her informative talk was supplemented in an interesting way with recordings and numbers by the Bach Trio and Bach Quartette, members of which were Miss Isabelle Pike, soprano, and Miss Grace Genn, pianist, who belong to the club, and two guest violinists, Miss Dorothy Francis and Mr. Gilbert Margison.

TURNED OVER TO THE NAVY

Sailors Who Blessed Nazi Flag From Staff Get Suspended Sentences

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23 (AP).—Two young United States Navy men who ripped a Nazi swastika flag from the staff at the German Consulate here, were given suspended sentence today of ninety days in jail and were turned over to the navy, which promised they would be "adequately dealt with."

The flag incident, staged before a throng of some 2,000 persons here last Saturday, resulted in a protest from Berlin and a statement of regret by the Government.

The two sailors were on leave from a navy hospital, where they had been under observation in the psychopathic ward, when the incident occurred. They were not in uniform.

They were Harold J. Sturtevant, nineteen, Haverhill, Mass., formerly on the destroyer Craven, and Ervin Clifton Lackey, twenty, Charlotte N.C., until recently on the destroyer Perkins. Each has about a month to serve of his enlistment.

They were convicted of malicious mischief, for which the maximum sentence is six months in jail.

Sailors Drown When Boat Founders

Eighteen members of the crew of a fishing trawler, Mary E. O'Hara, were drowned when the craft struck a submerged object as she entered Boston Harbor and sank. Five sailors were rescued after clinging for three hours to the tip of the boat's mainmast (right), the only part remaining above the water's surface. Wrapped in a blanket, Stanley Conrad, one of the survivors, is pictured at left.

AFLOAT WITH BROKEN BACK

Crew of Schooner Admires Doctor Removed by Coastguardmen

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23 (AP).—The twenty-four men of the crew of the little lumber schooner Katherine Donovan were removed to coastguardmen today after the disabled vessel sank so low in the seas that her main deck was awash.

The coast guard cutter Shawnee, from Eureka, had the ship in tow, and was making one knot with the derelict. The commander of the Shawnee hoped to get the Donovan into San Francisco.

He messaged that the Donovan's back was broken at the forward engine-room bulkhead, and that the decking of the lumber was washing out. The schooner carried a considerable cargo of lumber in her hold, and this it was hoped, would keep her afloat.

The Donovan got into trouble yesterday when her engine became disabled off the Northern California coast. At 1 p.m., when the cutter Shawnee messaged coast guard officers here, she was thirty miles northwest of the Blunts Reef lightship, with her tow.

He De France Is Being Remodeled For War Services

BOSTON, Jan. 23 (AP).—The 40,000-ton French luxury liner He de France is now undergoing extensive alterations at a Boston shipyard to adapt her to troop transport service, it was disclosed today.

The work is being done under the direction of British authorities, members of the crew of the American freighter Steel Traveler reported today.

They said that when the Steel Traveler, which arrived here today, tied up beside the French liner at Singapore several weeks ago, workmen were outfitting the ship for transport purposes.

The vessel last was heard from in Saigon, French Indo-China.

NIAGARA'S FACE CHANGES

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 23 (CP).—The American crest of the falls was changed somewhat in appearance several weeks ago, workmen have disclosed. A huge piece of rock, about eighteen feet wide and ten feet deep, had broken off 100 feet north of Luna Island.

AL HOSTAK WILL FACE TONY ZALE

Promoter Bill Rand plans to stage the bout in the Chicago Stadium, February 21.

PLAN OUTINGS TO MOUNTAINS

Canadian Pacific Railway Arranging for Two Excursions to Ski Resorts

Two ski excursions, the first from Vancouver, February 15, and the second from Vancouver, March 8, have been announced by the Canadian Pacific Railway to bring the famed powder snow and long, wide, above-timberline slopes of the Canadian Rockies closer to the countless devotees of the sport on the Pacific Coast.

The first of these excursions will take in the trip to Banff and back, and a solid week of sport at Sunshine Lodge. Skiers leave Vancouver on the 7:15 p.m. train Saturday, February 15, arriving at Banff at 8:25 p.m. Sunday, February 16, stay overnight at Banff and start out Monday morning by automobile for Sunshine, which is fifteen miles southwest of Banff, and return from Sunshine on the following Sunday in time to catch the 1:45 a.m. train Monday, February 24, which brings them back to Vancouver at 10:30 p.m. on that day.

ABOVE TIMBERLINE

Sunshine, incidentally, is the centre of a vast terrain, above timberline, with a base altitude of 7,000 feet, with wide open slopes running up to 10,000 feet on some of the surrounding peaks. The roomy lodge chalet offers such comforts as hot and cold running water, showers, electric light and radio.

Lake Louise and Skoki Lodge, which is ten miles north of Lake Louise, right in the heart of the high peaks, are the destinations of the second Canadian Pacific ski excursions from Vancouver, Saturday, March 8. On that day snow enthusiasts will leave Vancouver by the 10 a.m. train to arrive at Lake Louise at 6:40 a.m., Sunday, March 9, travelling by sleigh and on ski to Skoki Lodge. They will remain there until the following Sunday and will leave Lake Louise on the 12:30 p.m. train Sunday, March 16, to arrive in Vancouver on the 8:20 a.m. train Monday, March 17.

In the case of both excursions, however, the tickets are good for twenty-one days, so additional time may be spent in the Rockies or at other points en route back to Vancouver.

FINE ACCOMMODATION

Skoki, like Sunshine is in the midst of a glorious ski country and has a main two-story log building is well equipped. There are also smaller cabins for two, four or eight persons. Transportation is provided by tractor sleigh as far as Mount Temple Lodge, thence by ski, toy to the final five miles.

W. S. Bill Anderson at the C.P.R. ticket office, 434 West Hastings, is handling arrangements for the excursions and expects to accompany a large party of Vancouver skiers to the Rockies resorts on both occasions.

TROUBLED MIND SOUGHT RELIEF

Messboy, Worried About Fate of Parents, Plunges Overboard From Ship

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP).—War nerves got the better of a seventeen-year-old British messboy on the Barber Line freighter Troja today.

Five days, Captain William Gulstromsen said, Wilfred Wilkerson's one thought was of his parents and relatives back in Coventry, Bridge Hall, England.

Were they been killed? Have the bombs got them?" he frequently asked his captain.

Early today the boy dashed onto the deck and shouted "Good-bye I'm going." He disappeared over the side and found relief for his troubled mind in the icy water.

Police later recovered the body.

Coming to Coast As Claims Agent Of National Road

Coming to the Coast from Winnipeg James McCawley has been appointed district claims agent for British Columbia district, Canadian National Railways, with headquarters at Vancouver, it was announced yesterday. He succeeds O. H. Wick-land, who has been promoted to Winnipeg as chief claims agent for the West.

Mr. McCawley joined the Canadian National claims department at Winnipeg, December 18, 1918, as claims adjuster. He was transferred to Dauphin, Man., in the Fall of 1924 to open the claims office at that point. He subsequently returned to Winnipeg in 1933 as district claims agent, serving in that position until the present transfer.

SOME PROFITEER

Grinham: "What, you own a whole row of up-to-date houses and haven't got one to live in yourself?"

Rickham: "That is so. You see, I've raised the rent so much that I cannot afford to pay it."

British Composer Is Interested in Song Collections

On his way to Meadowdale, Dr. James Lyon, well-known British composer, was a visitor to Victoria during the week. He is concluding arrangements for which he spent some time in Australia and New Zealand.

Interested in the folk songs of Quebec and Newfoundland, it is the intention of Dr. Lyon to make a collection of material in both places. He has already made a collection of Maori songs, which he intends to incorporate in a symphonic poem for which he has already chosen the title, "Hinemoa."

Halibut Fishing Vessel Launched At Mainland Yard

VANCOUVER, Jan. 23 (CP).—A new $30,000 fifty-four foot halibut boat has been added to British Columbia's halibut fleet by two well-known Prince Rupert fishermen, Jenioff and Olio Eilertsen.

The diesel-powered vessel was launched as the North Vancouver yards here yesterday and will be ready to head north to Prince Rupert within a few days, ready for the opening of the halibut fishing season, April 1.

Chicago Hockey Club Outdrawing The Whole League

Black Hawks Have Attracted 196,925 Spectators to Fourteen Home Games—Set League Record Recently With 19,386 Present—Expect to Reach 321,000 Before the Season Ends

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (AP)—Fifth in the standings but first at the box office. That sums up the gold-plated amazing story of this, city's National Hockey League entry—the Black Hawks.

In fourteen games the team has drawn 196,925 spectators, who pack approximately $250,000 to watch those fourteen games. Only one of the eleven Sunday, holiday and opening night crowds fell below the 15,000 mark. A new all-time single game attendance mark of 19,386 is on the books, with the possibility of a second straight season's league attendance record.

Those are a few figures bulwarking Chicago's claim to recognition as the world's hockey capital—at least at the ticket windows—despite a competitive showing which has given the team ten wins eleven defeats and six ties.

Last year Howie set a league season's attendance mark of 301,000, according to Joe Parnell, the Black Hawk front office. Right now the team has two home games to play seven of them being Sunday night games that average more than fa 14,000 and Hawk officials believe the final ten home games will produce about 120,000 customers. If they do the season's mark will be around 321,000.

LOWEST CROWDS

The three low crowds this season ranged from 7,926 down to 4,307, and all came on Thursday nights. The eight Sunday night crowds averaged 16,350. The Chicago Stadium seats a little more than 16,000 so it is evident the Hawks really have had 'em hanging from the rafters.

Black Hawk officials smile a bit when they hear someone remark that "fights are running hockey." A look at two all-time single game crowd figures shows why they aren't worried. On April 10, 1938 against Toronto the Hawks drew 18,496 fans for a new league mark. The fans came full for final one hoping to see old Doc Romnes take a pole at Reg Noble. Romnes did not play in the game's final play, and everyone except Mr Romnes and the vanquished Leafs went home happy.

A week ago last Sunday the Hawks played Detroit. Jimmy Orlando the Detroit defenceman, had been involved in a row with a spectator and Herb Kenny, Detroit mat manager to see Jimmy taken care of. Mr. Orlando spent a quiet and lonely evening, but since the Hawks won the fans went home happy.

MONTREAL Jan 23 (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs joined out Montreal Canadiens 3-2 in a National Hockey League game here tonight. A crowd of 11,329 paid customers watched the veteran Sweeney Schriner lift a rebound into the net late in the final period for a goal that climaxed the Leafs' uphill battle. The league leaders had fallen behind, 2-1, in the initial session, united the count with the only marker of the second period.

For Canadiens, it was their fifth successive defeat, against a team they have failed to beat at least once this season. It was also the fifth time that Goalie Paul Irvin missed out in an effort to guide his net mates through to a victory over the team that he spent nine years building before switching to Montreal, for this season.

It was Ry Apps and Gordie Drillon who played the key parts each of the Leafs' attack in the first two periods with Apps serving in the initial period after Cliff Goupille had sent Montreal into a 1-0 lead and Drillon tying the count in the second period after Ray Getliffe had sent Montreal ahead a trifle.

In the final frame after a Canadien offensive had been thwarted, Billy Taylor came on to feed a Toronto rush, with Schriner banging in the winning tally on a rebound at 15:20.

CHICAGO TRIUMPHS

CHICAGO, Jan 23 (AP)—Chicago Black Hawks broke the spell New York Americans have held over them for almost two seasons by clinching their way to a 3-1 National Hockey League victory tonight.

It was the second triumph in their last two starts against the Americans and their first this year. However it came at an opportune time, lifting Chicago into fourth place in the standing ahead of the idle New York Rangers.

A crowd of 7,305 persons saw Cully Dahlstrom, assisted by Doug Bentley and Phil Hergesheimer send the Hawks into the lead midway in the opening period. The Americans deadlocked the score in the same period. Pat Egan scoring while teammate Charley Conacher was serving out a penalty.

The Hawks went ahead to stay in the next period on a goal by Dahlstrom. Red MacKay also clinched matters in the final period on a hard rush by Bill Carse. In both instances the Hawks caught the Americans with most of their men down in the ice and each time established them to elude the last man in their way.

WOOD, LEONARD ARE AFTER GAME

VANCOUVER, Jan 23 (CP)—A best-ball match between Canada's outstanding golf professionals to determine who is Canadian "champion" for 1941 was announced today by Fred Wood, Vancouver pro, who has just returned from California where a lady threw of change collected in three open tournaments.

Wood said that he and Stan Leonard, of Vancouver, would challenge two Eastern Canada pros to a home-and-home series, with the possibility of a third game being played at Winnipeg. The challenge would go to Stanley Horne, of Ottawa, and either Jules Huot or Bobby Cruickshank.

Sponsorship of the Red Cross Society is sought for the match.

VETERAN MAT MAN PASSES

Billy Edwards, Who Tangled With Jack Dempsey, Dies in Dallas

DALLAS, Tex., Jan 23 (AP)—Vigilamous Billy Edwards, a skillburned old wrestling figure of fifty-one years, who pioneered a new lockum by taking a punch at Jack Dempsey just for the fun of it, ended a violent, thirty-two-year career in a country hospital yesterday.

The squat and bald heavyweight who rose from circus wrestler to the original mat meanie, died in a Hillsboro hospital thirty-two hours after his automobile had collided head-on with a truck.

Basal skull fractures and internal injuries caused his death.

Just a misunderstood sideshman, insisted the multitude of friends of this cauliflowered veteran of at least 1,000 matches.

Henry William panicked the sports world several years back with the famed Dempsey incident. The Manassas Mauler, who had just been retired by Gene Tunney, came into Dallas on a barnstorming tour as a wrestling referee.

Smack in the middle of the Edwards match, with 3,000 jammed into the old fair park livestock pavilion, Edwards suddenly stopped gnawing and beating on his opponent and turned on Dempsey.

Viciously he ripped off Dempsey's shirt and then planted a right-hand on the former champ's ear. Just a little showmanship, you know. But Dempsey misunderstood.

He countered with a crushing blow that landed full on Edwards' rather prominent proboscis.

The president and secretary of the Nanaimo Association also addressed the gathering as did the game warden, Mr Greenwood General McRae who is an ardent and untiring worker for the interests of the Fish and Game Association, was a genial master of ceremonies and a most generous and hospitable host. A buffet supper was served in the dining room with the accompanying refreshments, after the various talks. Card tables also were laid for those who wished to play and a splendid evening was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present.

Inter-City Rugby Game Carded Here Tomorrow

Vancouver Rowing Club and Victoria J.B.A.A. Will Battle in A. H. Cox Cup Match at Macdonald Park—Kick-Off at 3 o'Clock

Vancouver Rowing Club vs. Victoria J.B.A.A. That's the inter-city Rugby fixture for tomorrow and followers of the two fifteens are looking forward to a keen battle. The clubs will be fighting for the A. H. Cox Cup, donated by one of Victoria's most ardent supporters of the local oval ball pastime and hard-working member of the executive of the local union.

Don McInnes, veteran manager of Victoria's championship Crimson and Gold, and pilot of the Bays, put his progress through their final paces last night at Macdonald Park, and reported the boys in good condition. The genial boss of the J.B.A.A. was non-committal as to the probable outcome of tomorrow's inter-city clash, but did go so far as to suggest that he figures his club strong enough to give the Vancouver carnation plenty of trouble.

FINE REP PLAYERS

Victoria followers of the game look for a Bay triumph, and by a fair margin, pointing out that the squad will have at least five "Rep" players on their line-up when gridiron performers as Bill Mair, Joe Andrews and Bert Simpson, will be wearing the blue jerseys of the J.B.A.A. Added to this list of stars will be a number of other McKechnie Cup players and some promising young performers.

Word reaching the city from Vancouver states that the Mainlanders will be strengthen their team for the cup match with the Bays. The loniby is at present held by the Victoria club and there is nothing that the Mainlanders would like better than to take the silverware back home with them.

Ron Burns, Victoria referee, will toss the whistle. The kick-off is set for 3 o'clock.

LAST NIGHT'S SCORES

RCAF, 30, Motorcyclists, 24.
Western AC, 21, Navy, 13.
Medicals 14, Composites 12.

Upsets featured play in the Service Basketball League fixtures last night at the Drill Hall Centre, with the three leading quintettes going down to defeat at the hands of clubs lower in the standings.

Medicals, lowly cellar occupants, sprang a surprise when they kicked over the dope bucket in the very first game on the card, and Western Air Command and RCAF Patricia Bay were quick to follow suit.

The medical men did things properly by handing the Composites their initial setback of the season. The score was 14-12, with the losers staging an uphill fight all of the way. The game featured the contest, with little to choose between the two clubs. Composites led 6-5 at halftime, but as the end of the third quarter neared the winners were in front, 12-11. In the final period, Eldred scored a basket for the Medicals and Cooke potted a foul shot for the leaders.

Western Air Command turned back the Navy, 21-13, in the second game of the evening. The flyers moved ahead in the closing stages of the second frame and were never headed. Halftime score was 12-7 in their favor.

A six-point margin gained in the first quarter paved the way to victory for the RCAF over the Motorcyclists in the nightcap. The Air Force troopers established a 13-7 lead in the initial stanza and that six-point lead was all that divided the clubs at the finish.

Line-ups and scorers:

RCAF, Patricia Bay—Larkin 10, Revy 7, Wallace 5, McDonald 2, McGuire 2, Charlton, McNeil, McGill and Stephens 4. Total 30.

PLANET SATURN IS TALK TOPIC

Gordon Shaw Addresses Society on Physical Attributes of Body

The planet Saturn was the object of discussion at the meeting of the Victoria Centre of the Astronomical Society of Canada, in the Y.W.C.A. Wednesday night, when Gordon Shaw, honorary president of the local branch, addressed the large audience on the physical attributes of that object in our solar system.

Claiming it to be one of the most interesting of all planets due to its peculiar satellites in the form of rings about it, the speaker said that it had been fairly definitely established that the rings were composed of numerous minute objects, rather than two whole bodies.

"There has never been a definite explanation given for their adjacent position so close to the planet," said Mr. Shaw, "for by being in such a position they go contrary to the established laws of astronomy."

Mr. Shaw explained how it was found the rings were the smallest bodies through the use of the spectroscope.

MARKS COMPARISON

In comparing the planet Saturn with the earth, the speaker said that its mass was ninety-five times that of this planet. It had 745 times the volume of the earth, while its density was but thirteen-one-hundredths of the earth's density. It compared to light freshly fallen snow.

An oblate spheroid, Saturn has a polar diameter of 74,000 miles and an equatorial diameter of 75,600 miles. Its distance from the earth varied from 745,000,000 miles to over a billion miles. According to the speaker, the planet has eight moons, one of which revolved about Saturn in a direction contrary to the others.

The talk was illustrated with slides and a model of Saturn. Dr. R. M. Petrie was chairman of the evening and introduced the speaker.

PUT GENUINE FEELING INTO PRESENTATION

It is a fine thing in the theatre when the most expert actors project a skilful play. It is a finer and much rarer thing when actors of deep intelligence of feeling present a play in which the feeling is so human and genuine as their own. The two are combined in "Quiet Wedding," to be presented by Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday, February 3, for one night only.

Actors are the most sensitive and conscientious of players. Robert E. Sherwood, the author of the delightful, earnest and socially responsible plays which Lunt and Fontanne have given us in this drama. Together they give it a depth of sincerity which rings out audibly the age-old human traffic of make-believe in the theatre.

SINGER RECEIVES GIFTS FROM FANS

Premier Pattullo Says Position at Sirois Conference Much Misrepresented

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (CP).—Premier T. D. Pattullo, of British Columbia, returning the Ottawa Provincial Conference" which collapsed last week today issued this statement through his secretary.

"Mr. Pattullo stated today that he had received clippings from several of the press in British Columbia which were very extreme in their criticisms of the action of the Provincial Dominion-Provincial Conference at Ottawa. Mr. Pattullo said that not only had the position taken by him not been properly represented in a wide section of the British Columbia press, but, had been very much misrepresented.

"The Premier stated that the matter would be fully discussed on his return, and prophesied that criticism now so virulently would look as foolish as the criticism of his attitude toward the Grenier Vancouver water supply and of the bridge at New Westminster, now known as the Pattullo Bridge."

LEASE OF WATERSHED

The Greater Vancouver Water District was created by an act passed through the British Columbia Legislature in 1924. It gave the board a 999-year lease on properties held on the Seymour and Capilano Rivers on the North Shore, from where Greater Vancouver obtains its water supply. The board began to function in 1926.

Premier Pattullo was Minister of Lands for the Province in 1924, and aided in passage of the Water District Bill through the Legislature.

The Pattullo Bridge across the Fraser River at New Westminster on the main southern highway into the United States, was completed by the Provincial Government in 1937.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Jan. 23 (CP).—Harry Kirk, a Ukrainian who claimed that he once "trained Hitler" in the Austrian army, was fined $5 in police court here yesterday when he was convicted of a charge of assaulting a sergeant Kirk did not answer to the charge.

Early Gains Are Discounted on New York Mart

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (CP)—Attempts to extend Wednesday's mild stock market rally ran into opposition today and early gains of fractions to a point were chipped down or turned into losers at the close.

Several rails, steels and aircrafts continued to point moderately upward. The result was that prices in virtually all departments failed to maintain a definite trend.

The Associated Press average of sixty issues was unchanged at 42.7. Transfers totaled 665,180 shares compared with 520,790 the day before.

Yesterday's advance, the first for the list in a while in ten sessions, inspired a little initial bidding on the theory that perhaps the technical recovery would carry on for a few days at least.

Many with this idea, however, stepped aside when it became evident that follow-through power was lacking.

There was scant change in the generally optimistic business picture and war news was more encouraging than otherwise. Wall Street, though still was concerned over tax fears of growing labor difficulties in arms industries and apprehensive over a possible widening of the Congressional rift latent the fresh lend legislation.

Shares finishing higher included Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, U.S. Steel, Republic Steel, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Douglas, Public Service of N.J., Standard Oil of N.J., Kennecott, Anaconda and American Tobacco.

Bank President Urges Spending Be Curtailed

Head of Bank of Nova Scotia Discusses War Financing in Report to Annual Meeting Of Shareholders at Halifax

HALIFAX Jan 23 (CP)—"If we are to pull our full weight in the cause to which we are dedicated individual spending must be pro-

[illegible] of the Bank of Nova Scotia, told the annual meeting of the bank here yesterday.

Mr. McLeod stressed possibility of instances of the savings of the people are not loaned to the Government for war purposes and spending on luxuries is not curtailed.

"If anything is clear," he said, "it is that the problem of finance is rapidly assuming larger proportions.

"The Dominion's over-all requirements for its own war expenditures, for ordinary outlays and for financing British purchases in Canada during the fiscal year ending March 31 next, appear to be somewhere in the neighborhood of $1,500,000,000. The bulk of which has been raised. While it is not possible to say just what will be the requirements of the coming fiscal year, a total of $2,000,000,000 would seem to be a conservative estimate.

PAYING WAR COST

"Half the requirement will possibly be raised by taxation, Mr. McLeod predicted and the balance, in the event inflation is not increased will be raised by borrowing. Such borrowing the banker said, could not be regarded as in any way inflationary providing the borrowing and taxation of the Government prevent an increase in the volume of civilian spending.

"It stands to reason, continued Mr. McLeod, that this country cannot go on indefinitely producing more and more war materials and more guns from the productive system into the armed forces and at the same time continue providing more goods for civilian consumption and use. Since we must have a rapidly mounting war production and larger armed forces, we shall have to forego an improving standard of living and, to a great many cases, accept a somewhat reduced one.

NATIONAL INCOME UP

The president pointed out the national income had greatly increased in the last year, possibly 14 per cent over 1939 and that production was now at the highest volume in Canada's history.

Mr. McLeod mentioned the various controls introduced since the war started, including exchange and price supervision and added that by and large these controls have been administered effectively and fairly.

The assistant general manager of the Bank resigned briefly the bank's financial statement, showing earnings of $1,941,230 after taxes of $1,904,027 and after all deductions. The net was only $62,000 under that of the previous year, despite an increase of $445,000 in taxes. Withdrawals for the purchase of war bonds had resulted in a drop of about $10,000,000 in deposits to $260,670,000.

"Devil's Work"

By CAROLYN WELLS

(Copyright, 1940, by Carolyn Wells Houghton)

CHAPTER LXXIV

Inspector Eastman jumped to his feet.

"Stop!" he commanded. "Don't say another word! Don't say I did, and beaten knew! I had reason... But drop me for the moment. Turn your attention to the murderess, who sits over there, looking so sad and innocent. She killed poor Esmeralda, a helpless girl, the victim of a sword in the hands of a skilled fencer! Turn to her and ask her for her confession!"

"Keep quiet, Forrest!" Drew said sternly. "We are through with you. We have proved your guilt, and the law will take care of your future. We will now turn to Mrs. Forrest, and be glad to say that I can prove her innocence as fully as I have proved your guilt."

"Innocence nothing! Jean killed Esmeralda! I saw her do it! Look at her now! Her face is blanched white!"

"Be quiet, Mr. Forrest. If you persist in talking, I will have you taken from the room."

Austin seemed about to speak but was silent.

"You say you have Mrs. Forrest commit a crime?" Fleming Stone asked quietly of the young man.

"I do say so."

"Where were you at the time?"

"I was in my brother's bedroom. Miss Fane's room at the time Miss Fane and my sister-in-law were fighting in the study, and as I sat in the bedroom, I couldn't help seeing them."

"And you saw Mrs. Forrest—do what?"

"I saw her deliberately thrust the fatal thin blade between Miss Fane's lower rib the girl fell to the floor."

"And where did you go?"

"Back to my room."

Without giving an alarm? You couldn't do such a thing!"

"I did, though—because I didn't want to tell on Jean!"

"How did you get back in your room? To do this, you had to go out through the hall, and through the back door of Vivian's dressing-room, which opens into your room. Which did you do? You know Jeanne was in the hall."

"Oh, I have a key in the door of Viv's room. It's convenient many times."

CANADIANS IN R.A.F. NOW HAVE OWN CREST

LONDON, Jan. 23 (CP)—The Royal Air Force's Canadian squadrons, whose Hurricanes carry a caricature of a doubled-up Hitler lying kicked by an airman's boot, now have their own crest.

The Canadians had designed for them a picture of the great moose which hangs in Canada House against a background of the Royal insignia with a badge of maple leaves.

"They work me night and day, And I'm like'—

I'm all weary of this wa'—

It's time to strike!"

What Today Means

If January 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until noon, from 2 to 4 p.m., and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 4 to 6 a.m.; from 6 to 8 p.m., and from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m.

If called upon to make concessions today, it will be a good judgment to have a clear understanding regarding everything involved in them before granting them. "Passing the buck" will be a favorite game with many people today, so be careful you do not find yourself holding it. Today it might be wisdom to figure that whatever is done is done, and that it will be a waste of time fussing over it. Temperability, rather than premeditated deliberation, will be the rule of most of the happy-go-lucky type of people involved in this occasion, so be careful how you entrust anything of importance to anyone's care who you feel even under the foregoing classification. Do not trust luck to dabble too far into your undertaking, for it will only be to send plunging and earnest work that worth while would fail to be attained. Marked and engaged couples, and those who have developed a strong love of late, will do well to bear in mind that they are often surprised at their own resistance. Good hours will be not surprised if someone elses.

If a woman and January 24 is your birthday, do not sacrifice your health in the interests of someone else's, for they might felt that you may have to be quite in control. One of the most difficult things for a woman is to know yourself; so never depend on your own resolve else unless you have lived with them a number of years. Accept no responsibility unless you have the full amount of authority vested in you to enable you to proceed without hindrance or embarrassment. Business affairs of a diffilian, modiste, milliner, journalist, designer, interior, trained nurse, sales agent, teacher, secretary, artist, or musician, you may win a brilliant success. Conservation and a worth-while bank account bring you a measure of ease and a wife you should have no trouble in securing your full share of it.

The child born on January 24 should, in the early teens, show an interest in some line of activity in which its chances for success appear in be exceedingly good. Encouragement, at the proper time, will be a suitable if this youngster is to develop into a worth-while a million Others—a host of interests must not it into a frame of mind to accept a determination existence.

If a man and January 24 is your natal day, realize there is no reason for the blues to overtake you in absolute for feeling except in the infinite for the soul, except in the divine," and your material happiness will be greatly increased. As a welder, tailor, engineer, dentist, engineer, financier, executive, notary, newspaperman, author, statesman, manufacturer or inventor, there ought to be unlimited opportunities for you to gain fame and fortune

According to Culbertson

One of the most powerful, though delicate, bidding weapons in the game of bridge is the delayed take-out double. In expert games this device is employed with great frequency, but for some strange reason, average players shy away from it. Its value is well exemplified in such a deal as the following:

Rubber bridge
South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable

	NORTH
	♠ 8 5 4 3
	♥ K
	♦ 8 7 4 3
	♣ 9 7 5 4
WEST		EAST
♠ K 9 3		♠ A Q 6
♥ J 9 8 4 3		♥ 10 7 5
♦ Q 6 5		♦ A K J 2
♣ A 10		♣ K 8 2 2
	SOUTH
	♠ J 10 7
	♥ A Q 8 2
	♦ A 2 10
	♣ Q J 6

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding of East and West in particular is interesting as a study in modes of soundness and strategy. East, it will be observed, had a strong hand which was dealt a shade of an opening bid. Indeed many players would choose to open the hand with one club. East, however, was a shrewd sort of player who, not vulnerable against a vulnerable team, likes to tempter aggressive-ness with a "trying for trap" psychology. He didn't have so much that he had to fear a lost game if he passed, and it is well that South had three honor tricks and a couple of plus values to boot. Very few hands are profitable to such a pass as North laid down.

West had the wisdom of reasoning for his pass of one heart. For one thing, he was extremely fond of hearts; for another and more simple reason, there was just no logical action he could take North's pass requires no comment. Now we come to the crucial bid and the point of this article. It was no part, of East's philosophy to evince that no opponents were playing a nine-one heart contract and therefore he must not go game! He received the latest possibilities of the situation and proceeded to double. The double that he used, technically falls into the class of takeout double, but it conveys a distinct message to partner: first, he must bear in mind that the double is used originally, hence that his top-card strength is not great. Second, a re-opening double signifies a willingness for partner to make a penalty pass if he has some strength in the doubled suit. A delayed takeout double conveys a strength limitation for this penalty pass than the garden variety of takeout doubles. West, of course, was delighted with the opportunity to play against one heart doubled. His pass was excellent.

West, afraid that a lead in spades, diamonds, or clubs might give a trick, decided that the safest action was to open a trump and led the fourth highest. Dummy's blank ace of spades and diamond was led to the trick-ed. West won and shifted to a low spade. From that point on he was very easy to the play. The defenders scrupulously avoided leading a diamond which would let declarer take a second finesse, and thereby held him to his four top tricks namely, three hearts and one diamond. Thus the one heart game contract was down three tricks and the 500 points were gratefully received by the East-West team.

HOTEL VANCOUVER STRIKE IS ENDED

Half of Waiters and Bus Boys Return to Work After Month Of Idleness

VANCOUVER, Jan. 23 (CP)—The strike of sixty-three waiters and bus boys from the downtown Hotel Vancouver ended today just one month after it began when thirty-two waiters returned to accept two-dollar wage increases and four bus boys came back to their jobs without a raise in pay.

Ten waiters and seventeen bus boys who struck with the others, December 23 and have since picketed the hotel, were not taken back in the settlement. The end of the strike was announced following negotiations between the hotel management and the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union, with the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council executive acting as mediator.

The picket line has been withdrawn from the hotel and the strike officially terminated.
